Chairman's Statement

Honorable members of the General Assembly of Amman Stock Exchange (ASE)

First of all I would like to welcome you all in our annual meeting and hope this year will be a prosperous year for all of us. It is to my pleasure to be among you today on my first meeting with your esteemed assembly. It will be a great chance to highlight the major achievements of the Stock Exchange during the past year; to converse and listen to each other, and share ideas that can help achieve the best for this major national institution.

Dear Members,

The past year witnessed tough economic situations both locally and internationally, where the economic issues of Jordan had an effect on all trading activity of the ASE. Trading value at the ASE during 2012 amounted to nearly 2 billion JDs, while the number of traded shares reached 2.4 billion shares, executed through around 1 million transactions. The General Stock Price Index declined by 1.9% to reach 1958 points, and the market capitalization of all listed companies stood at 19 billion JDs, that is 93.5% of the Gross Domestic Product. This ratio reflects the relative significance of the ASE within the Jordanian economy.

Despite the declining activity during 2012, the ASE persisted in its efforts aiming at developing the market in different aspects, and applying best practices in the securities industry.

Legislative Development

On the legislative level, the ASE reviewed and amended a number of regulations and bylaws that govern the operations of the ASE. A major achievement in this respect was applying the new directives for listing securities at the ASE. These new directives go in line with the international standards pertinent to securities listing. Accordingly, the companies listed at the ASE have been redistributed on three market segments based on criteria related to profitability, shareholders' equity, free float shares and the number of shareholders. Companies listed in these different market segments were differentiated in the allowed price fluctuations and in the trading hours. The trading bulletins were updated and modified along with the means of data dissemination in order to cope with the new market segmentation. Early in 2013, the ASE launched an index for each market. Moreover, and for the first time, all listed companies are required to provide the ASE with a reviewed quarterly financial report starting the first quarter of 2013.

Developed
Infra-Structure

On the technical level, the ASE has developed its infrastructure through purchasing extra servers, external storage devices, and routers. A protection system for the ASE network has been installed, and the internal management information systems have been developed as well. Another major project delivered by the ASE is that of the virtual environment project aimed at equipping a back up site for ASE website. Accordingly, the ASE will be sure to deliver all of its electronic services in case of any failure resulting in service interruption through the ASE main website.

In 2012, the ASE resumed monitoring procedures of brokerage firms who wish to provide internet trading service for their clients and verified their fulfillment of all administrative, technical, and documentation requirements in line with the Internet Trading Directives. In fact, the Jordan Securities Commission (JSC) granted licenses for two brokerage firms to deliver this service.

In 2012, the first three phases of the Information Technology (IT) Audit project for the brokerage firms were completed. The Back Office functions at the brokerage firms are now in line with the relevant international standards. The extent to which these functions have been updated will be evaluated according to the recovery plan set for this purpose.

Disclosure and Information
Dissemination

In 2012, a number of agreements were signed with some data providers to disseminate information. These include market watch screens, trading information to be screened on satellite channels, and displaying the ticker tape at some websites to show prices of securities traded on the market. On the other hand, the ASE persisted in urging the listed companies to disclose their financial data and substantial information in a timely manner, hence; the response ratio for companies who provided the ASE with their annual reports reached 95%.

Arab & International
Co-operation

The ASE has always been keen on enhancing the cooperation relations with the local, regional, and international agencies. It participated in several conferences, gatherings, and meetings in the Arab world and worldwide. Thus, the ASE received several delegations representing Arab and International financial institutions in addition to delegations representing official parties and some student delegations. During these visits and gatherings, focus was on the role of the ASE in addition to highlighting developments that the national capital market has undergone. Moreover, in 2012, the ASE signed an MOU with Cyprus Stock Exchange to provide means of cooperation within the financial services industry in both countries.

Project of the National Financial Center

As for the National Financial Center project, the procedures to transfer its ownership to the Treasury of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan/ the Ministry of Finance have already been initiated. In 2013, the ASE will close the project accounts and complete the transfer process.

In 2012, the ASE witnessed significant changes in the internal administrative domain, with changes in the higher management taking place. Sincere thanks to those who shouldered the responsibility during the past years for their sincere and keen efforts that contributed to the Stock Exchange developments. We're sure the current management will persist in developing Amman Stock Exchange and carry it to the advanced capital markets level.

On your behalf, I thank all of our partners in the development process of the capital market which was achieved by virtue of efforts of all of those working at these institutions and cooperation among all of those in the capital market especially the Jordan Securities Commission. Thanks to them for their continuous support and cooperation. On this occasion, I also commend the sincere efforts exerted by all the staff of the ASE- management and personnel.

Finally, thank you for responding to our invitation to attend this meeting. We wish continuous prosperity for our country under the leadership of His Majesty King Abdullah II Ibn Al-Hussein.

Peace be upon all of you

First: Legislative Updates

Furthering the ASE's approach to review valid legislations, some amendments were introduced in 2012 to the rules and regulations of the ASE. The most important achievement in this field was the new Listing Securities Directives which were introduced as follows:

The New Listing Directives

The ASE started applying the "Listing Securities Directives in the Amman Stock Exchange for the year 2012" As of the 1st of October, which were issued by virtue of the provisions of Article (72) of the Securities Law No. (76) of 2002. These directives have introduced new concepts and advanced vision taking into consideration international standards in the context of markets segmentation and listing requirements, through redistributing public shareholding companies listed at the ASE on three markets. A new market was created in addition to the first and the second markets, therefore (243) listed companies had been redistributed on these markets according to multiple standards including shareholders equity, free float shares, profitability and the number of shareholders. As for the Third Market; the trading hours for companies listed at this market are different from the companies listed at the First and Second markets. The price threshold for the shares of companies listed on the First Market became (7.5%) instead of the (5%) limit. With regard to the Second and Third markets, the price thresholds remained unchanged (5%). Also the new directives obliged all listed companies for the first time to provide the ASE with their quarterly reports reviewed by their auditors starting the first quarter of 2013 beside the annual and semi- annual reports of the companies.

Second: New Indices Pertaining to First, Second and Third Markets

The ASE started at the beginning of January 2013, calculating new indices for each individual market of the three equity markets on which the listed companies have been distributed, under the new Securities Listing Directives, whereas the work on the new distribution has started on November 1st, 2012. The ASE will publish the closing values of the indices after the end of the trading session through its bulletins, which are posted on its website www.exchange.jo, Moreover, the value of said indices will be published throughout the daily statistics being prepared and published on ASE's website .The mechanism of calculating the new indices adopted the methodology applied by Standard & Poor's Dow Jones (S&P Dow Jones), leading in indices. The methodology considers the market capitalizations of the free float shares in calculating the index, noting that there is a capping factor of 10% on any company in the index. The methodology also depends on market capitalization and trading activity in choosing the sample of the index, it is the same methodology currently used by the ASE in calculating the general index and sectoral indices, also used by S&P Dow Jones to calculate the index Dow Jones ASE 100 for the ASE. As in other world indices, the ASE will have a periodic quarterly review of the indices sample simultaneously with a review of the general index sample". It is worth mentioning that the closing of the year 2012 will be adopted as the base year with (1000) points' base value to the three indices.

Third: Completing the First Three Phases of the Information Technology Audit Project:

The ASE completed the first three phases of the Information Technology (IT) Audit project for brokerage firms in cooperation with Price Water House Coopers as the Back Office systems operated in the brokerage firms needed to be configured to be compatible with the international standards observed in this field in order to develop their infrastructure of networks and firewalls. This will help mitigate to a large extent risks that such firms are usually challenged with. The extent to which these functions have been updated will be evaluated according to the recovery plan set for this purpose.

Fourth: Technical Developments

1. Virtual Environment Project

This project aimed to prepare a new backup environment for the ASE website and the ASE electronic services in its disaster recovery location in order to ensure the ability of the ASE to continue providing all its electronic services in case any problem occurs that leads to stop the service from the main site. A cluster stretch method between the main site and the disaster recovery site was introduced in this project using new servers, new virtualized storages and high tech. virtualization software. Therefore, a synchronous mirroring between the systems in the main site and the disaster recovery site can be established in order to use the backup systems immediately in case of emergency. Thus, this project improved the availability in the market to achieve transparent high availability.

In addition, this new backup environment in the disaster recovery location can be used as a substitute site to deliver some services vital for ASE systems such as the archiving system service to brokers, Management Information System (MIS), Market Watch, Internet Trading and Information Dissemination System.

On the other hand, a new router with high level specifications has been installed in the disaster recovery location in addition to upgrading the currently used router at the main location in order to accommodate the new internet line used as a backup for the main line in case of internet service interruption from the main location.

An Intrusion Prevention System has been installed. This system protects the network from being hacked and inspects it for any gaps; it provides guidance to help avoid such incidents. The System can function as a monitoring device only; so that no procedure would be made in case of any suspected defect, it sends alerts only. It can also serve as a monitoring and prevention device that responds properly in case of any suspected defect; it stops the line or sends alert messages and many other procedures.
